THAN ANY TWO OTHER NEWSPAPERS.

PRICE ONE CENT.

SENATOR STANFORD'S LOSS.

HIS STABLES AT PALO ALTO, CAL, DE-

STROYED BY FIRE.

Norlaine, the Record Yearling, Destroyed-

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.]

PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 18, 1888.

A BREAK IN THE RANKS.

MANY OF THE BEER WAGON DRIVERS RETURN TO WORK.

Only Five Hundred Drivers Remain to Carry on the Fight Against the Bosses-They Will Stick to It to the End-The Inside Men Stand Firm-Few of Them Return to Work-The Mon Upheld by Organized Labor-Affairs in the City Natoons-A New Driver Knocked from His Wagen.

The first break in the ranks of the brewery men's unions occurred this morning.

When the locked-out brewerymen gathered at Clarendon Hall there was considerable excitement after the pickets at Ehret's, Rupperts, Ringler's, Schaeffer's, Eichler's, Meyer's and Hoffmann's breweries reported that many of the old drivers had returned to work and thus abandoned their brethren of the Beer-Drivers

At Ehret's brewery sixty-five of the old drivers applied for work. They were received. Three others of the complement of sixty-eight would not abandon the union. Of the lifty drivers locked out at Ruppert's brewery all but three returned. Twelve of the twenty drivers at Ringler's brewery were reinstated.

F. & M. Schaeffer had thirty-five drivers and all but three returned to work.

Most of the drivers employed at Hoffmann's, Eichler's and Mever's breweries also abandoned the union and were reinstated in their old situations.

It was 10 o'clock when President Folcke called the Drivers' Union to order in lower Clarendon Hall. About five hundred members were present.

Secretary Reige reported the break in the ranks. Groans loud and deep were sent up. The President announced that the men who had thus gone back on their obligations were henceforth "scabs," who would be forever ostracized from the fellowship of union men.

Several members jumped to their feet and denounced the men who had turned traitors. One said: "This will not make any serious difference with us. The boycott will be more vigorously applied now, and the men who have turned their backs so shamefully upon us will find that their services in the breweries are not needed. We will strike a blow against every one of those breweries from which they will not soon recover."

The Secretary said that 10,000 barrels of beer a week had been offered from outside breweries, and any one requiring a supply beer a week had been onered from outside breweries, and any one requiring a supply could get it by applying at 213 Forsyth street. This, he thought, would make the boycott more effective.

Other speakers urged the men present to stand firm, and when the roll was called 500 drivers responded and declared they would not give up.

when Peter Doelger's brewery was called all the drivers, forty-five in number, responded to their names. Their spokesman declared that not one was missing.

It was reported that the men employed by Conrad Stein would would go out to-day un less that employer signed the union contract. Secretary Seiffert, of the Brewers' Associations of the secretary series of the Brewers' Associations of the secretary series of the Brewers' Associations of the Bre tion, said this morning: "So far as the brewers are concerned the lockout svirtrually at an end, and we are victors. Every brewery in this city and vicinity is running. Those of this city in nearly every instance have a full quota of men, while those out of the city have a sufficient force to supply their

the city have a sufficient force to supply their customers."

Max Schmittberger, a non-union driver employed yesterday by George Ehret, was in charge of the first wagon that left the brewery this morning. He had no sooner driven outside the gates of the brewery than he was strack on the head with a brick and knocked from his wagon. His head was badly cut, and he sustained severe injuries about the body caused by the fall. To prevent a recurrence of the act police protection has been applied for and an officer will be stationed on each wagon.

on each wagon.

The inside men are firm, very few having

$2 each on members discovered drinking ool beer.

The Barbers' Union will, in addition to The Barbers' Union will, in addition to fining members for going into pool beer places, order any of them to vacate premises occupied by them where pool beer is sold. The matter will be discussed in the seve all district meetings.

The International Boatmen's Union will tax any member $2.50 who is seen drinking pool beer or partypizing my place where it is ol beer or patronizing any place where it is The Trunkmakers' Union will let pool beer severely slou .

The West Side Association of Silk Ribbon Weavers will not drink any pool beer. It has unanimously indorsed the action of the has unanimously indensed the sordered a fine brewery workmen.

The Housesmith's Union has ordered a fine of $5 on any of its members seen drinking pool beer or otherwise patronizing any place THE MISCELLANEOUS SECTION'S ACTION.

The Miscellaneous Section of the Central Labor Union, at its meeting last night, adopted the following unanimously: Whereas. The brewery tosses have attempted to leny the right of their workmen to have a union;

Whereas. The brewery losses have attempted to deny the right of their workmen to have a union; and "Whereas, To accomplish this they have forced men willing to work out of work, and thereby demonstrated the brutality capital is capable of when labor is to be crushed; therefore, be it Resolved. That Section Ten condemns the inhuman acting not the boss brewers, and expressly appeals to all fair-minded persons to leave pool beer and every place where it is sold severely alone.

Leaders among the 20,000 Bohemians in the city have arranged to hold a big mass-meeting to-night at 1842 Eastern Boulevard (Avenue A), at which prominent men will speak in favor of a vigorous application of the boycott on pool beer.

The speakers at the Cooper Union mass-meeting to-night will include Senator Reilly, Gen. O'beirne, James J. Coogan, Samuel Gompors, S. E. Shevitch, Alexander Jonas, Fred Haller, Edward Finkelstone, Isaac Wood, George Block, James P. Archibald and Henry Emerich. Speeches will be made in both English and German.

The international Millwrights' and Millers' Union is a very strong organization of skilled workmen. In order to aid the locked-out brewery men it has called out all of its members employed in the brewerles.

Thus far the Afe and Porter Brewers' Association, although indorsing the action of the lager-beer brewers' pool in refusing to recognize organized labor, has not attempted to lock out their 1,200 employees engaged in the forty-six ale and porter breweries in this city and Brooklyn. Nor do the employees think that their bosses will go to that extreme. Thirty of the ale breweries are in this city. The large majority of the workmen are members of the Ale and Porter Brewery Employees' Protective Association (Local Assembly 8,390), and the others are attached to Ale and Porter Brewers' Union No. 1, an independent organization.

A representative of the Ale and Porter Brewers Employees' Association said to-day to an Evening World reporter: "If any attempt is made by the bosses to make our men work in the beer breweries where ale and porter is brewed all hands will be called out. We will not do any work on beer. We have a contract with the bosses which was entered into June 10, 1886, and it does not specify when it should expire Our members are ATTITUDE OF THE ALE AND PORTER MEN.

into June 10, 1886, and it does not specify when it should expire. Our members are working under the terms of that agreement and will continue so to do until the bosses

THE EFFECT ON THE SALOONS.

The efforts of the locked-out workmen to boycott pool beer in the saloons have had their effect in many cases. Where saloons have refused to boycott pool beer their trade has fallen off to a considerable extent. The condition of affairs in the saloons is shown EVENING WORLD reporters to be as follows:

William Wren, of the International Hotel barroom, said: "I have had an enormous sale of Bechtel's beer yesterday and to-day. There have been many strangers in here, who said that they couldn't get 'union' beer eisewhere, so they came here. A man came in here with a 'growier' this morning, but I refused to sumit family trady, as I conida't get 'union' beer eisewhere, so they came here. A man came in here with a 'growier' this morning, but I refused to supply family trady, as I only have ellough to sell over the counter. Bechtel's wagona are making extra trips, but can't supply the demand."

The variender at bl Ann street said: "I keep pool beer, but have not lost any customers. There have been a few men come in, and ween informed that I kept pool beer they called for ale or some other drink."

The same story was told at 35 Beckman street. At 179 William street the proprietor said that he had lost a great many of he regular customers on account of selling a prombited brand of beer.

No. 16 Frankfort street was deserted. There are many tables in the place, and usually they are all occupied at noon. The proprietor would keep "union!" beer, but could not get it.

There were only three men at 19 Frankfort street when the reporter called. There are tables in this place also. The proprietor said that he sood "pool" beer, but that there was no decrease in trade.

In Frankfort street, near Park row, "pool" beer was kept, but arrangements had been made for "union" ever and they would keep it.

At Hulee's and Kosmak's, adjoining the bridge, the bartenders said that there bad been no decrease in patronage. At Kosmak's there were not more than a dozen people present.

"At the "Builders' Exchange," at the junction of Chambers and Duane streets, "pool" beer was sold, but it did not affect trade.

INTENSE ANXIETY IN BERLIN.

Emperor Frederick Is No Better To-Day, the Physicians Say.

[BY CABLE TO THE PR'SS NEWS ASSOCIATION.] Berlin, April 18 .- The Emperor's physicians held a consultation at 11 o'clock this morning and afterwards issued a bulletin announcing that the Emperor's coudition was the same as at the last despatches sent out from here last night, when the fever had risen to 39 degrees Celsius.

Prince Bismarck has arrived at the Castle of Charlottenburg, and the belief that his presence may be thought necessary does not tend to alleviate the intense anxiety.

The physicians in attendance upon the Emperor, after examination and consultation, have come to the conclusion that the condition of the patient is less satisfactory than it was yesterday morning.

Dr. Hovell during the night inserted a new canula, larger than those used before.

Dr. Leyder last night and this morning, with the assistance of other specialists, sounded the Emperor's lungs, and found them unaffected.

Dr. Mackenzie's hypothesis of an abscess in the traches as the cause of the present in the trachea as the cause of the present trouble, which Prof. Leyder supports, is gaining ground, and an examination will soon be made to ascertain the facts.

MR. HOYT AND $32,101 ABSENT.

A Deputy Sheriff Looking for the Former-The Latter Is Hopeless.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Mercantill Benefit Association was held last evening at the Masonic Temple, and it proved to be one of the liveliest gatherings of an organized body ever held in this city. The most important business before the Mercantile Benefit Association was the discussion of this question: What has Secretary and Tressurer Russell P. Hoyt done with $32,101.75 of the mortuary assessment funds, which amount a special com-mittee has reported as missing.

It was stated that Mr. Hoyt admitted that his

It was stated that Mr. Hoyt admitted that his financial accounts were wonderfully mixed up and he had assigned a house and a lot of mining stock towards making up the dediciency. In a letter to friends who are members of the association under recent date he wrote:

"The allusiment of my matters will be presented for approval. May I ask you in the interest of the association, as well as myself, to consider it a point to be present at Tuesday night's meeting."

Treasurer and Secretary Hoyt did not attend the meeting. A deputy sherff, however, was there anxiously awaiting Mr. Hoyt's arrival. The officer had an order of arrest against him in a suit brought by the association against him for the recovery of $22, 101, 75, which he has failed to account for as Treasurer.

Mr. Hoyt had not been found by the Deputy Sheriff up to noon to-day. He has been Secretary and Treasurer of the association for twelve years, and has held a responsible position in the drygoods nouse of E. S. Jaffray & Oo., at 350 Broatway.

It is understood that he now says that the association is indebted to him for personal expenses to

It is understood that he now says that the association is indebted to him for personal expenses to the time of about $12,000.

The property that Mr. Boyt has assigned to the association consists of a house worth $25,000 and mortgaged at $22,000 and snares in a Vermont iron mine not supposed to be of much value.

His friends think he has lost a great deal of money in that mine, and hint that his peculations can be traced to that investment. His bondsmen to the association are E. S. Juffray and John H. Reed, in the sum of $5,000 each. Their bonds, however, have not been renewed from year to the Mercantile Henert Association will not be crippled by the large deficiency in its funds.

BROOKLYN NEWS. Michael Ennis Was Well Provided with Both

Pork and Whickey. An intoxicated man, with two hams, a piece of pork and an overcost in his arms, was arrested early this morning near the bridge entrance in Brooklys. At the station-house he gave his name as Michael Enns, of 300 Plymouth street.

A silver watch, a number of foreign letters and $10 in money were lound on him. They were claimed by Theodore Schloerb, a butcher, of 91 Orange street, whose place had been roboed.

Miss Simmons Frightens a Robber. A consumptive-looking man stopped Miss Emma Simmons in Willoughby street, near Kent avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday, and tried to pull the rings from her ears. See turned around so as to face him and called for help. The man ran away.

Dr. Agnew's Deathbed. His mind is perfectly clear. His family and friends are around his bed awaiting the end. His physi-cians think that he will not last the day out.

The Quotations.

The inside men are firm, very few h	wing the bartenders said that there had been no decrease gone back to work. At the meeting of inside men at Clare	in patronage. At Kosmak's there were not more	Canadian Pacific 59 59 59 Central Pacific 29% 29% 29% 29%
Hall the Secretary read a number of le	At the ' Builders' Exchange," at the junction	Central Pacific 298, 298, 298, 298, 298, 298, 298, 298, from outside unions and labor soc	ation of Chambers and Duane streets, " pool " beer was	Chesapeske & Outo. 15 15 15 15 Chic. Bur. & Quincy. 1195 1195 1195 1195 promising moral and financial support.	sold, but it did not affect trade. There was a large sign displayed over the bar at	Chicago & Northwest 168 108 107 1
Speeches were made to encourage the	men 180 Park row saying: "No Pool Beer Sold Here!"	Cnic. Mil. 4 St. Paul pid 111% 111% 111% to continue the fight. Reports from pi	ekets The proprietor was happy, as there had been a big	Chic., Rock Island & Pacific 111 111 1115 showed that twenty-five men had return	nd to I increase in trade.	Col. & Hocking Cost work this morning, and that but little		Octorado Coal & Iron 514 544 5.4 Del., Lack. & Western 128, 12-5 128
was being done in the breweries.	Trade was alowly increasing.	Del., Lack. & Western. 128°, 12°, 128°, Delaware & Hudson. 10°, 10°, 10°, 10°, 10°,
The manager of Ehret's brewery refus	ed to The following named a loons keep pool beer, but	Delaware & Hudson 100 100 1000 1000 1000 1000 11006 11
reinstate six of the old drivers.	the proprietors said there was no decrease of	Chic., Rock Island & Pacific. 111, 111, 111, 111, 111, 111, 111, 11
Fifty brewery men from Philadelphi	a ar- patronage: 63 New Chambers street; Koster &	Louisville & Nashville
rived to day, and were sent to brev	eries Bial's, 127 Park row, 143 l'ark row, 59 Park row, 154 William street, 7 Ann street, 15 Ann street, corner where they were required.	. Ann and Theatre alley.	Manhatian Consol.
At the association rooms, in Irving	The proprietor of 190 Park row was in favor of the bosses were jubilant over the disaffe	ction arresting pool brewers for their recent action. He	arienigan Central among the drivers.	kept pool beer because he could not get any union	Minnes polis & St. Louis ptd. 15% 15% 15% 15% 15% 17% 17%
UPHOLDING THE LOCKED-OUT MEN.	brand. "Just as lively as ever here," said Patrick	Missouri, Kansas & Texas. 134 134 114 1
Many of the local assemblies of the Kn	19hts Traingr mana er of Hall's szioon, on the corner	Missouri Pacific 73 73 72 1 Missouri, Kanasa & Texas 191 2114 112 1 Nash, Charla & St. Louis 75 71 75 1
of Labor and the open trades and	show of Hudson and Franklin streets.	New York Central unions have aiready taken action upo	n the Alexander Fletcher, proprietor of a oar at	N. Y. & New England orewery men's lockout by passing re	solu- Greenwich and North Moore atreets, and we send sell only Milwaukee beer here. A good many of	N. Y., Onio & St. Louis 14% 14% 14% tions indorsing the brewery employee	and our customers are workingmen, but they have not	N. V. Lake Erie & Western 24% 25 24% (N. V. Lake rrie & Western pfd 57 51 51
tions indorsing the brewery employee boycotting pool beer, and imposing	fines began to kick yet."	N. Y., Susq. & Western 8% 8% 8% upon members who may be seen drift	King I At H Pane's place, on Warren street, the bar-	N. Y., Sund. & West pfd. 29 2974 29 1 Norfolk & Western 17 17 1056 pool beer. Other organizations which	have tender said: "The boycott has made no difference	Norfolk & Western pid. 45% 45% 45% 45% 45% 45% 45% 45% 45% 45%
not so acted will do so at their next med	ting, to us."	Northern Paolife ptd
Local Assembly No. 10,813, compos- the Co-operative Clothing Cutters, p	dd of Dusne street, said: "We have not been seiling as	Ohio & Minimistroll. 20 2 207, 20 2 1 Ore. Rallway & Navigation. 90% 90% 90% 90% 00% 00% 00% 00% 00% 00% resolutions at a recent meeting in dorsin	I much beer in the past two days.	Ore. Railway & Navigation. 90% </td brewery workmen's unions. The san	g the Alexander Jackson, bartender for B. Boyle, e or- corner of Greenwich and Dey atrects, said; "We	Pacific Mail
ganizations will hold a special meeti-	or on I are not selling any by the pitcher to-day, but there	Philadelphia & Reading 68% 59 65% 1
Saturday evening, when a fine will l	ng on are not selling any by the pitcher to-day, but there is or has been no complaint from our regular custom-	Pullman Palace Car Co
dered upon any member who is f	ound set 7	Rich, & West Point Ter. 28% 24% 23% Rich, & W. P. Ter, pfd 65% 65% 65% 65% patronizing any saloon where pool b	eer is A bartender in W. Harms's saloon at 1924 Third avenue said he would not have known that there	Rich, & W. P. Ter, pfd 65% 65% 65% 15% 87% 37% 37% 37% 37% 37% 37% 37% 37% 37% 3
sold.	was a strike if he had not read of it	St. Paul & Omaha pfd 100 106% 106 I
Council No. 3 of the Furniture and C	Arnot A. Hanny Hastings enlang 124 Fast One Hundred	St. Louis & San r rancisco pfd 674 674 674 674 674 674 674 674 674 674
Employees' Association will meet on F	riday I and Sixth street, the same story was told.	1 Tenn. Coal & Iron night, when a resolution will be offered	2 on his saloon has not been boycotted.	Union Pacific 60 0336 534 1 Wabsah, St. Louis & Pacific ptd. 2336 2336 2336 2336 1
viding for the imposing of a fine of $	2 on I his saloon and not been boycottes	1 Western Union Telegraph 14% 14% 14%
any member discovered drinking pool	bartender said that one or two customers had made	Wheeling & Lake Strie 51 51 61 61
or patronizing a saloon or any other where it is sold.	a laughing pretense of not drinking the feer, but	The Old Silver Spoot.
The Hat Salasman's Union has vot	d to John H. Cole's saloon, at 1883 Third avenue, was	How fresh in my mind are the days of my sick-and its members will each for the first of	farmed I visited it was said, by four walking delegates of	ness.
drinking bool beer and suffer expr	lston different trade unions, who, after asking what	When I tossed me in pain, all fevered and sore; I
 # Peperition of the net	kind of beer it was, drank it without a word, al-	The burning, the nauses, the sinking and weak-
The Urania Labor Club of waiters	the though it was of the poor variety.	And even the old spoon that my medicine bore.
		The old sliver spoon, the family spoon,
10. I have all decided to fine member	THE IF I WANTED AMOND PARTY A THE STRIKE WAS STRIED	The sick-chamber spoon that my medicine bore,
	DOOL A Stephen Sweeper's saloon, at 1100 lake ave-	How loath were my fever-parched lips to receive it.
		How nameous the stuff that it bore to my tongue,
Web Press Union will fine any me	mber E. J. Curry, of 1302 Third avenue, and George there, Rebut, of 1700 First avenue, reported that there	And the pain at my inwards, oh, naught could re-here was no change in their lear trade.	lieve it, Though sears or small man troug my cheming in The old silver speon, the medicine speon, beer from pool to non made	of his customers say that they wished the strike was	How awful the stuff that it left on my tongue.
Progressive Paintered Union No. 4 and	over, but showed no disposition to boycott.	Such is the effect of nauscous, griping medicines
Progressive Painters' Union No. 1 wil	John Trewers, of 1835 Second avenue, said that	which make the sick-room a memory of horror. w patronisis of $10 on any member of	uggit he had had no trouble.	Dr. PIEBCE'S PLEASANT PURGATIVE PELLETS, on the tense will meet with exemplains. A secon	d of James Barrett, a bartander for M. E. White, of	parety vegetable and perfectly affective. 25 cents I
The Brushmakers' Union will love a	ne of boycotting smong his customers.	which make the sick-room a memory of horror. Dr. Prescr's Pracasart Puscartive Publishe on the contrary, are small, sugar-coaled, easy to take, purely vegetable and perfectly effective. 25 cents a vials femse will meet with expulsion. The Brushmakers' Union will levy a f	ma Ar I and anything amount on a house	CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF THE
A MEN OF THE WAY A TO	A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR

MR. CONKLING DEAD

Medical Skill Could Not

The End Came This Morning.

One of the Manliest and Ablest Men of the Day.

painlessly at 1.50 o'clock this morning. His death-bed was in the rear room of the suite of three occupied by him during his

The noble, faithful wife of the Senator worn and wearied by two weeks of watching, waiting and hoping, was kneeling by the bedside, her face buried in her hands. Her grief was of the deeper kind, which knows grasp. Tears welled from her eyes as she waited there for the end.

Dr. Anderton stood near the head of the bed. Charles H. Thomas, the colored nurse, a protege of Dr. Fordyce Barker's, stood a little apart, his head bowed and his dusky but tender hands clasped before him list-lessly. On a sofa sat Judge Alfred Conkling Coxe, the nephew of the man whose heart-beats were coming fainter and fainter.

For some minutes the little group waited silently. Then Mrs. Conkling arose slowly as if to retire, and at that moment the life of her husband went out.

Mrs. Conkling had seated herself in a chair and was leaving dejectedly upon her hand of the family is to the Episcopalian Church of the family is to the Episcopalian Church, and the funeral services will be celebrated at Trinity Chapel, in West Twenty-fifth street, at 10 o'clock on Friday morning. The Rev. Morgan J. Dix will read the service.

This service will be a brief one, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the remains will be taken to Utica and the final obsequies will be celebrated there on Saturday afternoon in Calvary Chapel. It was at first intended to hold them in Mr. Conkling's old home on Rutgers street, but it was decided that the house would be too small.

The pail-bearers will be ex-Judge Shipman, Mayor A. S. Hewitt, S. L. M. Barlow, Clarence A. Seward, Manton Marble, Senator John P. Jones, Senator Don Cameron, Judge William J. Wallace, Col. Walter S. Church and Isaac H. Bailey.

and Isaac H. Batley.
Dr. Barker said this morning: "Mrs.

Dr. Barker said this morning: "Mrs. Conkling is very brave and strong this morning, but I fear there will be a reaction from this excitement which may prostrate her."

Mr. Oakman and Alderman Conkling were with the widow and daughter this morning. There was a rumor that an abcess of the abdomen was discovered after Mr. Conkling's death, but Dr. Berker said it was not true, adding, "meningitis killed him by slow exhaustion."

Secrets of people called at the house of Scores of people called at the house of mourning to day, a majority of whom were citizens who left no cards.

Every one had a word to say indicative of regard and esteem for the deal chieftain, Andrew J. Todd, an old Washington acquaintance, said teelingly: "Mr. Conkling was one of Nature's noblemen. There are was one of Nature's noblemen. There are not many. He was one of the few men who, as fr ends, one could always count on.

Ex-Railroad Commissioner John D. Kerman, the son of Mr. Conkling's old friend and neighbor, the late Senator Francis Kerman, of Utica, said: "Senator Conkling made a great tight, as he always did on all other occasions. I believe there will be a universal sentiment of loss-of gr at personal loss."

Among the callers were ex-Judge Shipman. Among the callers were ex-Judge Shipman, Col. Reiff. P. C. Costello, S. L. M. Barlow, and H. Bancroft Williams, the colored ex-President of the Society of the Sons of New

The remains will be placed in a casket or plain black cloth, with a cross of soft, white material on the top or the casket and ex-tending the whole length. The casket will be a duplicate of the one in which the honored brother of Mrs. Conkling, the late the Delaware and Otsego District, and Minister to Mexico under President Fillmore. He was also the author of "Conkling's Practice," a work of considerable merit. Judge Conkling was a stanch Whig in his political creed. His personal character was one of the nimost purity and integrity and was marked by the rarest fidelity towards his friends, a fidelity which nothing could alter.

Roscoe Conkling was the worthy son of his father. His life of six decades was marked by the most brilliant achievements. Honors fell to him thickly, and the official positions which he filled did not honor nim more than he adorned them.

George William Curtis led the cry that Conkling had been disloyal to Gov. Dix in 1874. Gen. Dix himself worked steadily and strongly against the Senator.

The Republican State Convention, which met at Syracuse, March 23, 1876, presented the name of Roscoe Conkling to the National Republican Convention as their choice for the Presidency. The encomiums of the convention, flattering as they were, may be accepted as a reasonably fair appraisal of Conkling's worth.

The convention presented him "as statesman and a patriot of the highest ability statesman and a patriot of the highest ability and character, whose long and distinguished public career is without reproach, who has faithfully served the cause of freedom and the Union through the great struggle of the

which he filled did not honor him more than he adorned them.

Like so many Americans who have gained distinction for themselves Mr. Conkling's educational advantages were very meagre. Some rudimentary instruction at home and a few terms in the Albany Academy supplied the whole extent of his scholastic training.

Pale Alto and Manzanita Badly Scarched -Dustardly Work of an Incendiary-A Terrible scene While the Splendld Auk mals Were in the Midst of the Flames. San Francisco, April 18 .- An incendiary fire is reported to have taken place at Senator Leland Stanford's Palo Alto Farm shortly after midnight. The details are very meagre, but it is reported that some half-dozen of the most valuable horses on the farm were burned to death, including Norlaine, whose mile last year in 2.31% was the best ever trotted by a yearling. The others burned include California Belle, Rexford Maiden, Emma Robertson, Trouba-

Rexford Maiden, Emma Robertson, Troubadour, Lowell and Howard. Those reported badly injured and who will probably have to be destroyed are Palo Alto, with a record of 2.20½, and Manzanita, with a record of 2.20½, and Manzanita, with a record of 2.16. Only a few minutes before the flames were discovered in the stable the watchman made his usual rounds and found everything in order. He had not reached his room before the presence of fire was discovered, and almost before the stablemen could raise a cry the one-story wooden sheds were blazing florcely. Every erson on the farm ran to the barns to try to liberate the horses, but almost before a door could be opened the intense heat had driven the men back and they were forced to witness the cruel destruction of the barses without being able to lift a hand to save them.

Palo Alto, Manzanita and Norlaine were at one end of the burning building, and when the employees saw that no efforts could save the other horses, they did what they could towards rescuing the three named.

The halter was taken from Palo Alto's neck and the horse was turned loose and driven from the stall. But the glare had frightened him to such an extent that he made no attempt to reach the corral, and it was only with difficulty that he was restrained from rushing into the flames.

to reach the corral, and it was only with diffi-culty that he was restrained from rushing into the flames.

A number of other stablemen succeeded in rescuing Norlaine and Manzanita. The first named was so badly injured that it was con-sidered a mercy to kill her, and the fastest yearing in the world was put out of pain. Manzanita had been burned about the head, but is not seriously injured, and with the care that was immediately bestowed she will probably recover.

Palo Alto was rescued at last from the building, but it is not thought the animal will survive.

The horses named above are in breeding, as follows:

Norlaine, 2 years, by Norval, dam Elaine by Messenger Duroc. Yearling reverd 2.51%, trotted Nov. 12, 1887, at San Francisco, Noraline was foaled Feb. 18, 1886.

Manzanita, bay mare, foaled 1832 by Electioneer, dam Mayflower, by St. Clair. Record 2.16, made when lour years old at Lexington, Ky., in September, 1886.

Paio Alto, bay horse, foaled 1882, by Electioneer, dem Dame Winnie, by Planet. Record 2.20%, made at East Sasinaw, Mich., July 14, 1886.

Rexford, bay horse, foaled 1883, by Electioneer, dam Rebecca, by Gen. Benton; record as a three-year-old, 2.24.

Malden, bay mare, f aled 1884, by Electioneer, dam May Queen, by A exander's Norman; record as three-year-old, 2.22.

Emma Robson, bay mare, foaled 1883, by Woodburny cam Lady Bell, by Belmont; thoroughbred, Lowell, bay colt, foaled 1885, by Electioneer, dam Soult's St. Curl.

Howard, bayge ding, 1882, by Electioneer, dam Mamse, by Hambietonian, Jr.

Troubadour and California Belle are also mentioned in the despatch the former as interested and the latters as hypert Californias for the loan which enabled him to pay his passage to that city.

But his legal practice soon liquidated his indebtedness and lined his pockets. For the past four years it averaged over $100,000.

Mr. Conkling was of a muscular build, good height and fine appearance. His pointed beard and Hyperion curl were sallent features which the curtoonists grasped at for their carreatures. But he had force, a strong individuality, was a fighter with clearly deindividuality, was a fighter with clearly defined views, a powerful partisan and a loyal Troubadour and California Belle are also mentioned in the despatch the former as injured and the latter as burnt. California Belle is not known. It may be Palo Alto Belle, bay filly, foaled 1886, by Electioneer, dam Beautiful Bells, recently sold for $8,000 to J. C. Sibley, Franklin, Pa., and at last advices at Palo Alto.

Gattenburg Entries. The entries for the races at the North Hudson briving Park, Guttenburg, to-morrow, are as fol-of friendship and nobility of character; his lituations an successful achievements, make as handring and tame the common heritage of our nation and enshring him in the hearts of the reopic.

Resolved, if the Assembly concur, that a joint committee of Senators and Astemplymen be appointed by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the Assembly to stiend the funeral of Mr. Conking and make arrangements for appropriate services by the Legislature. f a mile.

L):
1 © King Fonso.
108 Delsno.
19 Ko-Ko.
105 Milton G....
106 Glenning Nexubee Justine Mace. 105 Mileon (Justine)
Jen Keyes. 106 Cleaning
Jen Keyes. 104 Cleaning
Leap Year by fil-Used, dam Fen Folict, Second Race. Pours $200, for all area;
these-quarters of a mile.

King Bird.... Tony Poster.... Dair Oak..... and Jim...

coming westerly. preorded by light rains; fresh to brisk winds, beoming testerly, except brisk to high winds in outhern portion, diminishing in force.

HONORED AT ALBANY.

A Resolution Eulogizing Mr. Conkling Of-ISPECIAL TO THE WORLD.

ALBANY, April 18. - Senator Coggeshall, of Mr. Conkling's home district, offered the following resolution in the Senate to-day :

The Housesmith's Union will raise its initiation fee from $5 to $10 from and after June 1.

Fair Weather Preceded by Rain-

The United Instance League has indersed the Central Labor Union resolutions on the brewers lockout.

John Rose, of the Jewish Chorus Union, occupied the chair at the meeting of the miscellaneous Section hast evening. WASHINGTON, April 18. -Weather indications: For Connecticut - Rain, followed by colder, clearing weather; Fresh to brish, and on the coast brisk to high winds, becoming westerty.

For Rastern New York

Coder, fair seather. ing weather; Fresh to brisk, and on the coast

117 Little Smilt

Save Him.

Ex-Senator Roscoe Conkling passed away

last illness in the Twenty-fourth street annex of the Hoffman House.

no expression in tears. Mrs. Oakman, the daughter, knelt by the bedside also, and the hand of her dying father was held in her own, in a nerveless

Mrs. Conkling had seated herself in a chair and was leaning dejectedly upon her hand when Dr. Anderton said, in a subdued tone: "He is gone."

No one moved for some minutes. Mrs. Conkling remained with her face in her handkerchief and Mrs. Oakman sobbed softly, still kneeling by the bedside.

Then Judge Coxe gently raised Mrs. Conkling and led her from the room, Mrs. Oakman following alone.

Thomas, the faithful colored nurse, closed the eyes of the dead man, and all was over.

There was no pain in Mr. Conkling's death. It was not from suffocation by the filling of the lungs with extravasated blood, as was the general impression, but from sheer exhaustion, as Dr. Barker said mournfully this morning.

Ludettaker S. H. Bevins, who is sevious of morning.

Undertaker S. H. Bevins, who is sexton of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, was summoned, and at 10 o'clock this morning the body was embalmed.

Mr. Conkling was not a regular attendant at any New York Church, but the tendency of the family is to the Enjayan Church.

The remains will be placed in a casket of Horatio Seymour, was interred.

In death Mr. Conking looks perfectly senders are Gen. J. B. Carr. James S. Smart.

C. M. Dennison, City Judge Bulger, of Utica, and Benjamin F. Ehrman, Chairman of the Cincinnati Bar Association.

Roscoe Conkling was born in Albany on Oct. 30, 1828. His father, Alfred Conkling, was an eminent lawyer, who occupied at different times positions of high official trust. He had been a United States Circuit Judge, a member of the Seventeenth Congress from

At fifteen he entered the office of Joshua
A. Spencer, of Utea, and began the study of law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin who then began to law. In the crude urchin law to the rich fields of classical literation of the rich fields of classical literation. That he did not neglect professional the veranceular than the wearisome acidity of Mr. Spencer's law terms.

That he did not neglect professional studies, however, may be inferred from the fail the white studies and the law to la contingent by a majority of 2,833. So in 1859 he resigned his Mayoralty and took his sent in the Thirty-sixth Congress. It was a field in which he was to reap the most brilliant laurels.

The country was already drifting on the currents which met and seethed in the maelstrom of civil war a few years later. It was a time to try metile and test power. Compro-mise was the murmur which throbbed in the air. But compromise was a half hearted thing to Roscoe Conkling. He would have none of it.

He was returned to the Thirty-seventh Congress, and made his first important speech in the House in the following January a brilliant, impassioned inveighing against slavery. "that iron-heeled, marble-hearted oppressor."
Mr. Conkling was a stanch exponent and defender of President Lincoln's clean cut, vigorous attitude towards the rebellion. Without aiming to vindicate the leadership of the Republican party, he was an uncompromising ally of its policy. In the sormy debates of the sessions of the Thirty-seventi Congress Conkling established his reputation as one of the readlest of debaters, a fearless partisan and an enlightened statesman. He became the leader of the New York delega-tion in the Lower House. He made the most determined resistance to Elbridge Spaulding's Legal-Tender bill, and proposed a measure of his own, which was and be seen.

Drs. Barker, Anderton, Sands and Hartley have been specially invited to attend the funeral. The service here will be very simple, and meantime the body will lie in the room where the death occurred.

The United States Circuit Court was adjourned by Judge Wallace on account of Mr. Conkling's death.

Many despatches of condolence have been eceived by Mrs. Conkling. Among the unders are Gen. J. B. Carr. James S. Smartler, and Benjamin P. Judge P. Smartler, and Benjamin P. Judge P. Smartler, and Benjamin P. Smartler, and B

EX-SENATOR ROSCOE CONKLING.